Supervocalics

A supervocalic is a word or phrase that uses every vowel exactly once, and Y may or may not be included. For example, “I’m Your Angel” and “I Get Around” would both count, even though one uses Y and one does not. (Coincidentally, they’re also the titles of the only two Billboard #1 songs to fit the bill!)

Part 1: Given a category, name a supervocalic in that category. (Unless stated otherwise, there is only one of each.)
