Memes Bonus

Prepared for: Williams Trivia Competition
Presented by: Four Oreos From Paradise

Instructions

1) Below you will find a list of topics and a list of memes. For each meme:
2) Give the name of the Meme, to the best of your ability. Most memes follow a fairly straightforward naming system.
3) Pick a topic from the list of topics, and fill in the blanks for the meme format using the topic you chose. Each topic can be used only once, so indicate which topic you are using on the answer sheet.
4) You'll be scored on how true to the topic you are, and also how well you fit into the idea that the meme represents.
5) A few memes have some text that's always the same, though we have blacked it out here. Assume that we will read it as it usually is.
6) profit????

Examples of a Meme using Trivia

Given this image I know that this meme is named "The Negotiations were short"

This example uses a reference to WWII that humorously summarizes an instance during ww2 were negotiations were indeed short.

This blacked out text usually says "The Negotiations were short" hence the name of the meme
